Governor-Elect Flays All Who Gained Positions By "Manipulation"

"EPISODE DISGRACEFUL"

Republican Not To Support "Ripper" Bill, But Studies Possible Action

COLUMBUS, Jan. 4—(INS)—The Republican legislature will not be allowed to "rip" the Unemployment Compensation Commission apart, but employees who gained jobs through political "manipulation" will lose their positions, Gov.-Elect John W. Bricker declared today.

"I do not intend to have a political dumping ground made of the department," Bricker said, "and persons who got on the department through political manipulation will lose out."

Bricker referred to last Saturday night's final hour confirmation of former Sen. Keith Lawrence of Cleveland as a "disgraceful episode of an outgoing party to hold political jobs with no concern for the social program" of the department.

Lawrence was appointed and confirmed as a member of the commission a few minutes before the senate in the 92nd general assembly automatically passed out of existence.

NAZI DER ANGRIF FIRE
BLAST AT ROOSEVELT

BERLIN, Jan. 4—(INS)—Even before President Roosevelt delivered his message to the congress, the Nazi press today began an attack on his anticipated criticism of the dictator nations.

Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels' newspaper, Der Angriff, declared:

"Storm clouds are gathering for the Roosevelt regime but the President will hardly discuss them today. He will let loose an insulting cannonade against the dictators."

"Years ago a Dutchman who wanted to create rain acted similarly. He fired cannons at the clouds. Highly praised at first, he has now long been forgotten."

BOGGS TO HEAD COMMITTEE FOR
BALL ON JAN. 27

Morris Boggs, S. Court street, has been appointed chairman in charge of arrangements for the President's ball to be held in Memorial hall, Jan. 27.

REPUBLICANS MEET FRIDAY
TO VOTE INDORESEMENTS

Pickaway county's Republican executive committee will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in the office of Tom A. Renick, chairman.

It is probable the committee will vote indorsements of Pickaway candidates for state positions. To date only one Pickaway countian, George Beers of Commercial Point, has received an appointment. Mr. Beers is doorman at the Ohio senate.

Actress In Hiding

ANOTHER picture of Lida Baarova, beautiful actress-wife of Gustav Froelich, German film player, who is said to be in hiding following world-wide reports that friends of Froelich beat German Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels because he paid a great deal of attention to Froelich's wife. An official announcement from Germany said Goebbels was confined to bed with gripe.

STATE HIGHWAY
CHIEF ON STAND
IN FUND TRIAL

MT. VERNON, Jan. 4—(INS)—Ivan R. Ault, state highway director who is on trial in Knox county Common Pleas court on charges of soliciting campaign funds from civil service employees, was expected to take the witness stand in his own behalf today.

Ault was indicted on nine counts in Ashland county while a division highway engineer but secured a change of venue. Yesterday, two of the nine counts were withdrawn and another dismissed by Judge P. H. Wieland, of Morrow county, who is presiding at the trial.

The prosecution rested its case after calling seven highway department employees to the stand. All testified as to contributions collected by Ault.

Gordon Schworer, mechanic, said he was threatened with dismissal if he didn't contribute five percent of his pay to the Davey campaign fund.

Betty To Leave 'The Kid'
Until Finances Improve

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 4—(INS)—Betty Grable and Jackie Coogan still love each other deeply, but—

Both the blonde actress and the former "kid" of the silent era agreed today in Hollywood that until Jackie was in a better financial position than he is now, they had better remain apart.

Therefore, they have given up their apartment which they went to a little more than a year ago, when they were married, Betty going to the home of her mother, and Jackie taking up residence with an uncle.

"The Kid," who as the winsome little ragamuffin brought tears and laughs to millions a few years ago, and by doing so earned a fortune of around $4,000,000, is broke.

LEADERS CLAIM
RELIEF MUST BE

Heavy Penalties Studied For Officials, Employees Who Influence Votes

F. D. S. MESSAGE AWAITED

Rigid Tightening Of U. S. Law Urged After Senate Files Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—(INS)—Stirred by senate revelations of "W. P. A. in politics," Democratic and Republican senators today forecast the next work-relief bill will carry heavy penalties for any W. P. A. official or employee who uses his position to influence votes.

Senators predicts the recommendations of the Sheppard-senate committee for rigid tightening of the federal corrupt practices act, U. S. criminal code and for specific penalties in the work-relief appropriations, will be whisked through congress.

Amid this drive for remedial legislation came disclosure in senate circles that President Roosevelt will submit a special message to congress, probably Friday, recommending about $700,000,000 to carry on the W. P. A. until July 1.

Fund To Be Speeded

With Col. Francis Harrington, new W. P. A. administrator, warning the W. P. A. coffers will be empty by the end of this month, the stage was being set on Capitol Hill for speedy appropriation of emergency funds.

In his special message the President was expected to explain why the $1,325,000,000 appropriated W. P. A. by congress to last until March 1, will be expended before that date. The act provided that if the funds become exhausted before March 1, the President should explain why.

VILLAGE MAYOR
SEEKS RULING ON HIS TWO POSTS

Can the mayor of a village continue to hold his position after he becomes a representative to the general assembly?

William D. Radcliff, mayor of Williamsport, is seeking a solution to this problem. Radcliff has started his duties as representative and is still mayor of the village. He had arrived at no decision Wednesday.

Should he resign as mayor the position would go to William Heiskell, president of the village council.

Election board officials believe that no person can receive salaries from two elective positions.

Glass, Observing His 81st
Birthday, Draws New Act
To Change Bank System

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—(INS)—Carter Glass, Virginia's tiny, red haired senior senator, is eighty-one years old today, and celebrated his birthday anniversary completing the draft of new and startling banking-reform legislation.

He is the oldest member of the senate wears proudly and roguishly the title of "unreconstructed rebel" bestowed affectionately by President Roosevelt, and wants no birthday folderol, no speeches. Senator Glass has been an arch enemy of government spending throughout the New Deal recovery programs, and only he knows whether his replies to questions about his birthday were a play on words.

"How do you plan to spend your birthday, senator?" International News Service asked.

"Why," he retorted tartly, "I'm not going to spend it."

The new Glass banking bill will be introduced within a few days. This measure, drafted by the man who fathered the Federal Reserve system, will provide broadly:

1—A "freezing" of existing bank holding companies with drastic restrictions surrounding them.

2—Absolute prohibition against creation of any additional bank holding companies.

Glass did not call for outright elimination of existing banking holding companies because he felt that would not be fair to them or wise treatment of the existing banking structure. His bill will carry administration support. Glass and the administration leaders have seen eye to eye on few issues over the last several years, and their mutual agreement on this legislation will not prevent the Virginian from fighting the New Deal in this session of congress on other issues.

Just now his opposition to the administration embraces practically everything outside his new banking bill. He will fight for earmarking of relief money, against confirmation of a judge appointed from western Virginia by President Roosevelt, and particularly against extension of the President's power to negotiate reciprocal trade treaties—backbone of the New Deal foreign policy.

The senator's age has not a whit cooled the fiery ardor with which he espouses or fights an issue. He has contended that many New Deal laws were unconstitutional. As new senators were sworn in at the opening of congress, he observed laconically:

"I wonder how many of those fellows perjured themselves when they swore to uphold and defend the Constitution."

COURT DECIDES
KILLER OF CASH
CHILD MUST DIE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 4—(INS)—The electric chair loomed nearer today for Franklin Pierce McCall, kidnap-killer of 5 year old Jimmy Cash.

His only chance to stave off electrocution next week remained in an appeal to the U. S. supreme court following the unanimous refusal of the state supreme court yesterday to intervene in the case.

Whether the fight will be continued was undecided today. The state court told his lawyers that they had no basis for the contention McCall's constitutional rights had been denied him and it was considered possible they would accept the verdict.

GRAND JURY SESSION MAY CONTINUE IN THIRD DAY

Probability of a three-day session of the grand jury loomed Wednesday.

Nine of the 26 cases on the jury's docket were considered Tuesday. It was doubted if the jury would be able to handle 15 cases Wednesday.

PRESIDENT SAYS
FREEDOM FIGHT
MAY BE FACED

Congress, Nation And Many Other Countries Hear Plea For Liberty

TALK IN SIX TONGUES

Weapons Of Defense Must Be Provided, Roosevelt Warns

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—(INS)—Lashing out vigorously at the dictatorships which now dominate the old world, President Roosevelt told the new 76th congress today that the United States must be prepared to fight for freedom and democracy are to be retained here at home and throughout the Western Hemisphere.

His annual message to congress on the state of the union was more than just that—it was a ringing appeal to the world, broadcast internationally in six languages, for the preservation of freedom and the institutions of civilized society, which have been uprooted and endangered all over the globe by the rise of the dictators.

Accompanying this was a stern warning to the congress that it must take steps to see to it that the United States is "prepared—both in a military and economic sense—to resist the dictatorship ideology in this country."

"There comes a time in the affairs of men," said Mr. Roosevelt, "when they must prepare to defend not their homes alone but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their churches, their governments and their very civilization are founded. The defense of religion, of democracy and of good faith among nations is all the same fight."

Must Save All

"To save one, we must now make up our minds to save all."

In a few days, he said, he would transmit to congress concrete recommendations for strengthening the United States against the forces of aggression that now surround it and the whole Western Hemisphere.

To protect this hemisphere, its peace and its democratic ideals, he said, "we propose to do our share against storms from any quarter," and he added:

"From that determination no American flinches."

This by no means implies, he continued, that the Americas stand against the world, or disassociate themselves from other nations. We still stand, he said, on an offer to sit at the council table with other countries and work for peace and diminished armament.

"But the world has grown so small," he said, "and weapons of attack so swift that no nation can be safe in its will for peace so long as any other single powerful nation refuses to settle its grievances at the council table."

"For if any government bristles with implements of war insists upon policies of force, weapons of defense give the only safety."

Another French dispatch from Moscow stated Russian secret agents arrested the assassins of the Russian automobile and airplane manufacturer, M. Javovlev, who was killed recently in his Moscow apartment.

BRICKER NAMES LIQUOR STORE, AGENCY CHIEF

Scott E. Hambleton To Take Places Left By Two Democrats

$6,000 SALARY PROVIDED

Long Time Health Official May Be Selected Under New Proposal

COLUMBUS, Jan. 4—(INS)—Combining of two jobs in the liquor control department was effected today by Gov.-Elect John W. Bricker when he announced the appointment of Scott Elwood Hambleton, of Columbus, as assistant director and supervisor of stores and agencies.

Bricker said the appointment was made after a conference with Prof. Jacob B. Taylor, director-designate of the liquor control department.

Hambleton will be paid $6,000 a year. He will succeed Norman C. Parr, assistant director, and C. H. Burk, who resigned shortly after the November election.

Burk received an annual salary of $6,000 and Parr was paid $5,000 a year.

Graduate of University Hambleton, who is 34 years old, is a native of Columbus and received a bachelor of science degree in accounting in 1925 from Ohio State university.

He served in various capacities in the state auditor's office from 1926 to 1936. He worked with Taylor in setting up the auditing system now in use in the liquor department.

He is married and has two sons, Scott, Jr., eight, and Roger, six. Appointment of a state health director for a long term who would serve under the direction of a health council had the consideration of Bricker today.

The position of health director to succeed Dr. Walter H. Hartung is the only vacancy in Bricker's designated cabinet. He was said to have two physicians from Cincinnati and Toledo under consideration.

The health council proposal was made to Bricker by the Ohio Public Health Association. Under a council setup the health director could be removed for cause after the governor had been consulted.

GRESS BECOMES KIWANIS HEAD

Logan Man In Charge Of Installation; Club's Activities Aired

Virgil M. Cress, Circleville high school commercial teacher, became president of the Kiwanis Club Tuesday evening at installation exercises conducted in Hanley's tearoom by Lawrence P. Mooney, Logan. Mr. Mooney is the new lieutenant governor for the fifth Kiwanis district.

Other officers who took their places Tuesday were Ervin Leist, vice president; Don Walker, secretary, and Luther Bower, treasurer.

Mr. Mooney's address to the club members proved highly interesting. Announcement was made of the president's ball being conducted by the Columbus Downtown club next Saturday night at the Neil house, this event usually attracting numerous Kiwanians and their wives.

Several members of the Circleville club plan to attend a regional meeting in Marietta next week. The new president announced that a complete program for the year had been drawn up with next week to provide a "Professor Quiz" program in charge of Herschel Hill, Tom Renick and Charles Radcliff, and the following Monday to be a ladies' night program in observance of Kiwanis anniversary night. Tom Renick is chairman of the committee on arrangements for this event.

DAVEY DEFENDS STATE'S RIGHTS

Retiring Governor Speaks As Combined Session Of Legislators

COLUMBUS, Jan. 4—(INS)—Declaring that "the cockeyed theorists are in the saddle, and Ohio is looked on as an immature child, like all the other states," Governor Martin L. Davey went on record today as opposed to the "destruction of state rights."

Addressing a joint session of the house and senate of the 93rd general assembly and packed galleries last night, the governor, who retires from office after four years on Jan. 9, declared:

"During the last four years I have struggled to maintain one basic principle in two directions. The first has been to preserve the maximum amount of local control over local affairs. To a large extent this object has been achieved. "The second has been to prevent, as far as possible, the destruction of state rights, which are gradually being swallowed up by an ever-growing and avaricious federal bureaucracy."

Davey lashed out at the federal aid highway program by asserting that the Washington bureau dictates federal aid projects, although the state furnishes half the money.

"They (the Washington bureau) insist on the most expensive construction. . . . These millions of dollars of Ohio money are consumed in a few miles of most expensive construction each year, while the state roads are neglected," he said.

The governor continued: "I regard this effort to destroy the rights of the states as the most dangerous threat to our form of government, and to the liberties of the people. Federal bureaucracy is far removed from the average citizen, and is not answerable to public opinion—in fact, quite indifferent to it."

$7,000 PAID FOR LAND, BUILDING FOR COUNTY USE

Commissioners voted Tuesday afternoon to purchase the Ruggles building and 2.82 acres of land between Main and High streets on Canal street for $7,000.

The resolution for the purchase provided that the Ruggles heirs furnish an abstract of the property. The building and land will be used by the county for the storage of county cars, trucks, road equipment and supplies. At present the equipment is scattered at various places.

The commissioners advertised a public hearing for the purchase last Tuesday. No protests were received.

Sinking Fund $6,000 Under 1938; Auditor Explains Financial Setup

Appropriations to various county departments for 1939 were made Tuesday by the commissioners.

General fund appropriations total $217,145.80 as compared with $198,250.80 for 1938, an increase of $18,895.

The increase, County Auditor Forrest Short explained, was due to an addition of $7,000 for county buildings to take care of the purchase of the Ruggles building, Canal street, for a county garage, and an increase of $12,000 in the fund for unanticipated emergencies.

Last year the appropriation for unanticipated emergencies was $8,000, this year, $20,000.

Additional money in the general fund for the budget increase is possible through a transfer of relief funds to the general fund. Mr. Short pointed out that the relief funds not used for matching state and federal funds will be returned to the general fund.

Offices To Get Same

Appropriations to the various county offices are practically the same as those made for 1938. The appropriation for the sinking fund was $28,000, a reduction of $6,000 from the 1938 figure.

Appropriations outside the general fund included $100,000 from auto license and gas taxes for road construction, maintenance and repair, and $4,500 for the dog and kennel fund. These amounts were the same as the amounts appropriated last year.

The appropriations from the general fund include: board of county commissioners $11,176.80, general office expenses $2,750, courthouse and jail, buildings, $20,600, county home $10,160, justices and mayors courts $650, charity $7,000, soldiers' burial $1,400, agriculture $2,600, miscellaneous expenses $24,380, county auditor $9,710, assessing personal property $1,200, assessing real property $7,782, treasurer $6,730, recorder $2,800, prosecuting attorney $4,700, Court of Appeals $400, Common Pleas $12,200, Probate court $6,060, Juvenile court $9,300, clerk of courts $4,895, coroner $500, sheriff $13,735, children's home $11,500, county engineer $12,962, county portion of the aid to blind $3,000, cleaning and repairing ditches $500, soldiers' relief commission $7,255, and unanticipated emergencies $20,000.

firmation of the appointment of Charles Leasure, Zanesville, but "hatch men" in the senate balked and precipitated a sit-down of administration supporters that lasted until midnight of the last day's session.

Bricker agreed there should be a remedy for "job grabbing," but said he did not favor so-called ripper legislation which was reported being prepared in the new legislature.

"No ripper bill should be introduced which would interfere with the social program of the department," Bricker declared, "but neither should appointments be made for political purposes."

PRESIDENT SAYS FREEDOM FIGHT MAY BE FACED

may be destroyed if it is unprepared against sudden attack."

The world and ourselves have learned much in the last few years in international relations, he said.

In a military sense, and also in an economic sense, methods of procedure have been revolutionized in the past twenty years—in the speed and timing of attacks, which follows "preliminaries of propaganda, subsidized penetration, the stirring of prejudice and incitement to disunion."

In such a changed situation, the President declared, "God-fearing democracies which observe the sanctity of treaties and good faith ... cannot safely be indifferent to international lawlessness, anywhere."

There was a distinct hint of economic sanctions against aggressor nations in one portion of Mr. Roosevelt's message.

Words May Be Futile

"Words may be futile," he said, "but war is not the only means of commanding a decent respect for the opinions of mankind. There are many methods short of war, but stronger and more effective than mere words, of bringing home to aggressor governments the aggregate sentiments of our people."

Under modern conditions, the President said, adequate national defense falls into three categories:

1. Armed forces and defenses strong enough to ward off sudden attack.

2. Organization and strategic location of key economic facilities capable of sustained supply for the armed forces.

3. Social and economic unity among the people themselves.

Dictatorship, he continued, may command the full strength of a regimented nation, but in a democracy united strength can only be had when its people "educated by modern standards to know what is going on and where they are going, have conviction that they are receiving as large a share of material success and of human dignity, as they have a right to receive."

As an indication that he has in mind no new or startling legislation to propose to the congress, the President went on:

"We have now passed the period of internal conflict in the launching of our program of social reform. Our full energies may now be released to invigorate the processes of recovery in order to preserve our reforms, and to give every man and woman who wants to work a real job at a living wage."

"But time is of paramount importance. The deadline of danger from without is not within our control. The hour glass may be in the hands of other nations. Our

Bricker agreed there should be a remedy for "job grabbing," but said he did not favor so-called ripper legislation which was reported being prepared in the new legislature.

"No ripper bill should be introduced which would interfere with the social program of the department," Bricker declared, "but neither should appointments be made for political purposes."

PRESIDENT SAYS FREEDOM FIGHT MAY BE FACED

may be destroyed if it is unprepared against sudden attack."

The world and ourselves have learned much in the last few years in international relations, he said. In a military sense, and also in an economic sense, methods of procedure have been revolutionized in the past twenty years—in the speed and timing of attacks, which follows "preliminaries of propaganda, subsidized penetration, the stirring of prejudice and incitement to disunion."

In such a changed situation, the President declared, "God-fearing democracies which observe the sanctity of treaties and good faith . . . cannot safely be indifferent to international lawlessness anywhere."

There was a distinct hint of economic sanctions against aggressor nations in one portion of Mr. Roosevelt's message.

Words May Be Futile

"Words may be futile," he said, "but war is not the only means of commanding a decent respect for the opinions of mankind. There are many methods short of war, but stronger and more effective than mere words, of bringing home to aggressor governments the aggregate sentiments of our people."

Under modern conditions, the President said, adequate national defense falls into three categories:

1. Armed forces and defenses strong enough to ward off sudden attack.
 2. Organization and strategic location of key economic facilities capable of sustained supply for the armed forces.
 3. Social and economic unity among the people themselves.
- Dictatorship, he continued, may command the full strength of a regimented nation, but in a democracy united strength can only be had when its people "educated by modern standards to know what is going on and where they are going, have conviction that they are receiving as large a share of material success and of human dignity, as they have a right to receive."

As an indication that he has in mind no new or startling legislation to propose to the congress, the President went on:

"We have now passed the period of internal conflict in the launching of our program of social reform. Our full energies may now be released to invigorate the processes of recovery in order to preserve our reforms, and to give every man and woman who wants to work a real job at a living wage."

"But time is of paramount importance. The deadline of danger from without is not within our control. The hour glass may be in the hands of other nations. Our own hour-glass tells us that we are off in a race to make democracy work."

The first duty of statesmanship today, he declaring, "Is to bring capital and man-power together."

"Dictatorships do this by main force," he said. "By using main force they apparently succeed at it—for the moment. However we abhor their methods, we are compelled to admit that they have obtained substantial utilization of all their material and resources."

"Like it or not, they have solved, for a time at least, the problem of idle men and idle capital."

"Can we compete with them by boldly seeking methods of putting idle men and idle capital together, and, at the same time, remain within our American way of life, within our bill of rights, and within the rounds of what is, from our point of view, civilization itself?"

"Unemployment of Capital"

The country suffers, he said, from "a great unemployment of capital."

In this connection, he challenged stoutly the idea that the nation is over-burdened with debt, and that the government is spending more than it can afford—a plain indication that the New Deal does not propose to relax its spending policies at this time.

The current national objective in an economic sense, Mr. Roosevelt said, is to push the national income to the eighty billion dollar mark, as against an estimated national income this year of sixty billions.

Given that figure of eighty billions, he said, there would be substantial reduction of unemployment, and federal revenues from taxation would be sufficient to balance the budget.

On the question of federal fiscal policy there are, Mr. Roosevelt conceded, two schools of thought.

One would eliminate enough governmental activities and government expenditures to force an immediate balancing of the budget. If congress wants to do that, he said, congress will have to accept the responsibility.

The other approach, he continued, is to conceive the United States not as a 60-billion dollar (annual income) country, but as an 80-billion dollar country.

Mr. Roosevelt made it quite plain he favored the second school of thought.

"This school," he said, "does not believe that if the country can become an 80-billion dollar nation in the near future if government cuts its operations by one-third. It is convinced that if we were to try it, we would invite disaster—that we would not long remain even a 60-billion dollar nation."

"Events abroad have made it increasingly clear to the American people that dangers within are less to be feared than dangers without. If, therefore, a solution of this problem of idle men and idle capital is the price of preserving our liberty, no formless selfish fears can stand in the way."

"Once I prophesied that this generation of Americans had a rendezvous with destiny. That prophesy comes true. To us much is given; more is expected."

"This generation will nobly save or meanly lose the last best hope of earth . . . the way is plain, peaceful, generous, just—a way if followed the world will forever applaud and God must forever bless."

The trouble in Germany seems to be that all the eggs are wearing uniforms.

RICHARD TAFTE SUES FOR STATE INSURANCE BENEFIT

A petition asking that he be allowed to continue to participate in the state insurance fund was filed in Common Pleas court Wednesday by Richard Taffe, Circleville, against the Industrial Commission of Ohio.

The last compensation in his case was paid Dec. 3, 1938, the action says.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A SAFETY RULE

EVEN WHEN you are able to win two early tricks in the suit led against your no trump game, it is well to hold up and be prepared to win the next two, rather than winning the first and holding up on the second, in those situations where you are likely to lose the lead twice before you have the game, if it is possible that the holder of the long suit may gain the lead on one of those two times. That may sound involved, but figure out the reason for it and you will find that it can pay real dividends.

There was nothing much to the bidding of this deal—1-No trump by South, 2-Spades by North, 2-No trump by South, 3-Spades by North and 3-No trump by South. But the play furnished a perfect illustration of a nice point.

West led his club 5, on which East put the K and South took with the A. In a few moments he wished he had ducked it. His return of the spade K was won by East, whose club 8 then drew the 9 and 10. West firing back a club which knocked out South's Q. Then, after four spade tricks, South had to lose a heart to West, who cashed the last two clubs to beat the contract.

Had South ducked the first trick, East would have returned his club 8 to South, who would then still have had another club stopper left. After losing to the spade A, South would have been in no danger, as East could not have returned another club. Declarer would have won anything offered, then would have lost a heart to West, who could not have run his club suit because a stopper was standing guard there to make up a ninth trick for South before the opponents could get five.

Patriotic Inscription

"Erected to our fallen brave who held patriotism above personal safety and died for national unity, universal liberty and the perpetuation of constitutional law." This inscription which appears on a tablet at Memorial Hall, Circleville, was reprinted on the back of the Pennsylvania Sons of American Revolution News, Dec. 10 issue. In explanation there was a note saying that Compatriot Malcolm MacPherson, state secretary, who is always on the lookout for apt patriotic inscriptions, had found it while visiting in this vicinity.

Mr. MacPherson is well known and also related to Circleville residents. His mother was the former Martha Gill and his father, Leslie MacPherson, who lived in Circleville and attended school here.

His grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. William W. Gill, who lived on the home farm which was originally a grant of Pickaway county land to their ancestors. This is the farm where Lord Dunmore's camp, Camp Charlotte, is situated, and has been marked by a tablet, by the Pickaway Plains chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

H. O. Pile, the meeting to be held at the manse.

Miss Edith Haswell conducted a contest which was won by Mrs. Glenn I. Nickerson. Mrs. Mutschman presented two readings, closing the program.

Membership of the class was discussed and it was decided to revise the regular and associate lists of members before the next session.

A SAFETY RULE

EVEN WHEN you are able to win two early tricks in the suit led against your no trump game, it is well to hold up and be prepared to win the next two, rather than winning the first and holding up on the second, in those situations where you are likely to lose the lead twice before you have the game, if it is possible that the holder of the long suit may gain the lead on one of those two times. That may sound involved, but figure out the reason for it and you will find that it can pay real dividends.

club 5 then drew the 9 and 10, West firing back a club which knocked out South's Q. Then, after four spade tricks, South had to lose a heart to West, who cashed the last two clubs to beat the contract.

Had South ducked the first trick, East would have returned his club 8 to South, who would then still have had another club stopper left. After losing to the spade A, South would have been in no danger, as East could not have returned another club. Declarer would have won anything offered, then would have lost a heart to West, who could not have run his club suit because a stopper was standing guard there to make up a ninth trick for South before the opponents could get five.

There was nothing much to the bidding of this deal—1-No trump by South, 2-Spades by North, 2-No trump by South, 3-Spades by North and 3-No trump by South. But the play furnished a perfect illustration of a nice point.

West led his club 5, on which East put the K and South took with the A. In a few moments he wished he had ducked it. His return of the spade K was won by East, whose

Patriotic Inscription
"Erected to our fallen brave who held patriotism above personal safety and died for national unity, universal liberty and the perpetuation of constitutional law." This inscription which appears on a tablet at Memorial Hall, Circleville, was reprinted on the back of the Pennsylvania Sons of American Revolution News, Dec. 10 issue. In explanation there was a note saying that Compatriot Malcolm MacPherson, state secretary, who is always on the lookout for apt patriotic inscriptions, had found it while visiting in this vicinity.

Mr. MacPherson is well known and also related to Circleville residents. His mother was the former Martha Gill and his father, Leslie MacPherson, who lived in Circleville and attended school here.

His grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. William W. Gill, who lived on the home farm which was originally a grant of Pickaway county land to their ancestors. This is the farm where Lord Dunmore's camp, Camp Charlotte, is situated, and has been marked by a tablet, by the Pickaway Plains chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

DON BUDGE WINS FIRST CONTEST IN PRO RANKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—(INS)—J. Donald Budge, California's long-legged, freckle-faced red-head, was launched today on a professional tennis career that threatens to become both an artistic and a financial success, surpassing the wildest dreams of the son of a none too prosperous laundry man.

Artistically he was somewhat better than all right at Madison Square Garden last night as he made his debut as a touring trouper, defeating Ellsworth (Slim) Vines by 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, and from a financial standpoint he started to put it in a few words, toward a fortune. The capacity crowd was counted at 16,725 and the gross receipts totalled $47,120.

Thus was another star launched into the ranks of the professionals with Vines again playing Stogie, a role he embraced when he left the amateurs to meet Tilden in 1934 and still was playing as late as two years ago when he was the foil for Fred Perry in the latter's defection.

Thus, too, was started a nine week's tour through approximately 60 cities for Budge and Vines as the former works his way toward $75,000 guaranteed him by Promoter Jack Harris, who also is a little amazed by it all. He expected Budge and Vines to go over, but envisioned no such assemblage as the complete sellout which greeted the spectacle on green canvas under lights.

Association Race To Be Most Heated In Years

COLUMBUS, Jan. 4—(INS)—With a lusty squall, the American Association, 38 years old, but still a mere infant in the realm of baseball, today surveyed things to come and came forth with the conclusion that the 1938 race will be one of the hardest fought in the league's history.

Baseball itself is 100 years old this unpredictable year so the Association, in comparison, could probably use a chaperone.

The Association, its press agents tell you, is not the oldest of the minor league but the most "stable."

In the stable, soon to embark on a Spring training career, are eight clubs. Each has optimistically stated that it will either win the pennant or be a strong contender.

Such modest claims to fame are all well and good but somebody—seven somebodies are going to be disappointed.

Kansas City, which sat around during the 1938 season and clipped coupons from the gilt edged New York Yankee bonds and won the playoff pennant and little World Series as a result, should, given proper aid from the parent club, repeat.

Donie Bush Present

As in past years, Louisville will be the dark horse. Main reason for such status this season is Donie Bush's presence there as manager.

Backed by a working agreement with the Cincinnati Reds, Indianapolis is confident of being in the thick of the flag chase.

Milwaukee's guardian angel will be the Chicago Cubs. The same impotent Cubs which staged the 1938 world series farce against the Yankees.

Given proper cooperation from the Cubs, and no players, Milwaukee should be a first division club. In a generous mood, St. Paul

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

"Kentucky", the thrilling picture of the Blue Grass country, is being continued through Thursday by the management of Chakera Grand theatre. The technicolor movie that stars Richard Greene and Loretta has proven to be an outstanding attraction. Scheduled to close Wednesday evening, it is being carried over another day by popular request.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Binnie Barnes, who arrived in England from Hollywood with the idea of enjoying a vacation before beginning a film assignment, found herself made up, on the set and at work on an entirely different picture two days after her arrival.

It was like this. Korda had been unable to cast the part of Lady Mère in "The Divorce of Lady X," his technicolor comedy, starring Merle Oberon, which starts tonight on a double feature program with Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol", at the Cliftona Theatre.

When Binnie visited the studio, Korda explained his difficulty and the Barnes girl, remembering that it was Korda to whom she owed her discovery, graciously offered to play the part herself. Korda gladly accepted and Binnie was put to work.

AT THE CIRCLE

"Angels with Dirty Faces" the drama which has been thrilling Circle theatre audiences all this week, will be held over another day.

Starring James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, the Warner Bros. film is a melodrama of two boys who grow up after being kids in the slums together. One, Cagney, playing 'Rocky' Sullivan, is diverted toward gangsterism after a long period reform schools, the result of being caught in a hoodlum robbery in which both boys had participated.

The other, who had managed to escape the pursuing cops, grows up to become a priest, Father Jerry Connelly, played by Pat O'Brien. The two meet after 15 years apart and though the bond of friendship is stronger than ever, their paths eventually fall apart again when Father Connelly starts a crime drive in an effort to save the young boys of his parish whom he sees going the wrong way in seeking to emulate the big-shot gangster Rocky Sullivan.

CAGE SCHEDULE FOR WEEK FULL OF HIGHLIGHTS

Eight Teams Meet Tonight In City League; Four Unbeaten Crews Vie

TIGERS MEET GROVE CITY

All County Outfits Tangle In Friday Evening Loop Events

A full card of basketball is provided for Circleville and Pickaway county fans Wednesday and Friday evenings with the City league, Circleville high school and the county league swinging into action.

The City league, attracting much attention because of the high caliber of basketball being produced, turns on the heat Wednesday evening in the Athletic Club gymnasium with four games scheduled starting at 7:30 o'clock.

The schedule:
Bach Insurance vs. Stevenson's furniture.
Purina Feeds vs. Glitt's food market.
Wallace bakery vs. Caskey Cleaners.
Eshelman Feeds vs. Coca Cola.

Four Undeclared

Four of the teams, including Purina, Glitt's, Eshelman Feeds and Coca Cola, have not yet tasted defeat. Since these teams meet each other this evening, fireworks of the Fourth of July caliber is expected.

Circleville high, resting during the holidays, takes on Pete Trengo's tall and fast Grove City varsity and reserve teams Friday evening on the C. A. C. boards. The Red and Black team enjoyed a thorough practice session Tuesday evening with four teams getting plenty of action and enough exercise to remove all the kinks collected during the Christmas-New Year's rest.

A scramble for positions is on with several youths seeking places in the starting lineup. From present indications the same five that has started all but one of the Tiger games this year will be ready for action against the Greyhounds from Grove City. That team includes Davis and Heffner, forwards, Walters, center, and Bumgarner and Hughes guards. Three leading contenders for varsity places are Bowsher, Staley and Harold Smith, all turning in plenty of hard work in an effort to win a place.

Muhlenberg At Ashville

The county league lists Deercreek at Darby, Walnut at Perry, New Holland at Jackson, Pickaway at Washington, Salter Creek at Monroe and Muhlenberg at Ashville, the latter contest expected to be the highlight. If Snapper Ankrum and the Reid boys can get hot, the Kauber-coached youths may have to turn on the steam.

Ashville remains as the only undefeated boys' team in the county.
